BERT OVERRIDES SAXON GOV'MENT

...es Dictator After Premier Zieg-...er and His Ministers Refuse to Resign.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Berlin, Oct. 29.—President Ebert Germany today appointed Dr. ...einze commissary for Saxony. This ...tion was taken after the Dresden ...ernment rejected Berlin's ulti...tum that it resign.

Dr. Heinze will have wide power ...der the Reich to carry on admin...rative powers that were formerly ...ted in the Saxon cabinet.

Dr. Heinze was the last minister ...justice in the old kingdom of ...xony. Later he continued as min...er of justice under the republic. ...e belongs to the Right Wing of the ...rman People's party.

Dr. Heinze automatically super...des Premier Zieguer. The ap...intment is tantamount to setting ...ide the Saxon government by the ...eich government.

U. S. CONFIDENT DESPITE POINCARE

...oesn't Want New Reparations Council To Do Anything Beyond Finding Out Exact Capacity of Germans to Pay, Leaving French Pitted Against World Opinion.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Oct. 29.—American ...onfidence that the forthcoming con...erence of experts will be successful ...n overcoming the reparations dead...lock remained undimmed today des...pite the stern and somewhat pessi...mistic utterances of Premier Poin...care over the week-end.

Everything that M. Poincare said ...bout France not agreeing to any ...eduction of the total amount and ...bout the allied reparations commis...sion retaining all its prerogatives ...had been anticipated here.

M. Poincare has sung the same ...ong in varying keys for a long ...ime, and his Sunday speech occa...sioned no surprise.

Instead of disagreeing with the French government over the stipu...lation that the experts are to act ...entirely in advisory capacity, officials ...of this government are entirely in ...agreement that the experts shall ...have no power greater than simple ...suggestion. The United States senate ...is decidedly "touchy" over the ques...tion of America mixing up in the ...reparations controversy and both the White House and state department ...are well content to have the inquiry ...by experts left as "unofficial" as ...possible.

Both President Coolidge and Secretary Hughes feel that the rep...arations problem must be solved in the long run by economic facts, as...sisted by world opinion. It follows, logically, in their opinion, that world opinion cannot be formed un...il the exact facts concerning Ger...many's condition are ascertained and published. And this will be the ...task of the experts designated by the various governments—to ascer...tain the truth about German condi...tions and publish it to a world long ...bewildered by conflicting stories of Germany's wealth and resources.

Whether or not the experts advise ...a reduction in the total amount of ...reparations Germany must pay, now ...fixed at 132,000,000,000 gold ...marks, is not important at this time, ...according to administration officials. ...The important thing, officials said ...today, is to break the present dead...lock existing abroad and to ascer...tain the facts concerning Germany's ...ability to pay.

Once these things are accomplish...ed, the reparations controversy will ...be on a new plane that will permit ...a fresh start to be made. And a ...fresh start on the basis of exact ...truths is what officials here deem ...most important in view of the ...months of conflicting propaganda ...and half truths that the world has ...been smothered in.

Should the experts determine the present reparations are excessive ...and beyond Germany's capacity to ...pay, it is assumed here that the ...French would refuse to accept their ...verdict. But the pressure of world ...opinion upon France would be so ...strong in that event that officials ...here do not see how even Premier ...Poincare could withstand it.

France is not superior to the ...judgment of the world any more ...than Germany is and that France ...has yielded to world opinion before ...was illustrated in the Washington ...arms conference.

There still was little indication ...today of the identity of the Ameri...can experts who will take part in ...the conference. Speculation con...tinued to hinge about J. P. Morgan ...and Charles G. Dawes of Chicago, ...but nothing will be done until the ...reparations commission which meets ...tomorrow takes some action.

DEMOLAY CHAPTER INSTITUTED HERE

21 Boys in Junior Masonic Lodge—Troy Chapter Confers Initiatory Degree—Those Who Joined.

Colonial Chapter, Order of DeMolay, which is sponsored by the Masonic fraternity, was instituted Saturday evening in the lodge rooms of Kingston Lodge, No. 10, F. & A. M., when the initiatory degree was conferred on twenty-one Kingston boys by the officers of Troy Chapter, Order of DeMolay, who motored to this city that evening to take charge of the work of instituting the new chapter.

The Order of DeMolay was organized in Kansas City, April 1, 1919, by Frank S. Land, secretary of the social service and employment bureaus at the Scottish Rite Temple, and since then the order has spread throughout the country and now has a membership of one hundred thousand. The Order of DeMolay is for young men between the ages of sixteen and twenty-one, and is based on the closing events in the life of Jacques DeMolay, grand master of the order of Knights Templar, who was burned at the stake in 1329 by decree of Philip the Fair, King of France.

Colonial Chapter is sponsored by Rondout Commandery, No. 52, Knights Templar, and the advisory council of the new chapter is composed of the following members of Rondout Chapter: Ivar Junquist, Arthur C. Connelly, Dr. John R. Gillett, Roswell Coles, William McCullough, W. Frank Davis, E. H. Bogart, P. H. Carey, William S. Eltinge and E. B. Fowler.

Troy Chapter, over fifty strong, made the trip to Kingston Saturday afternoon by automobile, and owing to the lateness of the hour when the work of instituting the new chapter was completed, many of the boys remained overnight in Kingston, returning home on Sunday. Troy Chapter which was organized about a year ago now has a membership of nearly three hundred and is still growing. The members of the Troy Chapter brought with them the handsome regalia used in the degree work. The officers of a chapter are composed of master councillor and senior and junior councillor; senior and junior deacon; senior and junior steward; seven preceptors; standard bearer; sentinel; almoner; chaplain; marshal; scribe and treasurer.

Troy Chapter also has a gowned boys' choir and a large string orchestra, and both organizations were present and rendered the music of the evening during the services of instituting the new chapter. The Order of the DeMolay is a secret organization, and while those secrets are not to be divulged it may be said that the principles of the order are founded upon the love of home and country and the purpose of the organization is to make better boys who when they reach manhood will become representative men of the community in which they reside.

The order has two degrees. The first is known as the Initiatory and the second the DeMolay. Owing to the length of time taken in conferring the first degree the last degree will have to be conferred on the members of the new chapter at a later date. The work is very impressive and the officers of Troy Chapter who had charge of the work were complimented on the efficient manner in which the ceremonies were conducted.

The twenty-one boys who were initiated into the mysteries of the order Saturday were: Donald Steinert, Harry M. Barnhart, W. Kenneth Kukuk, Harry F. Williams, Edgar H. Lawrence, Thomas Rowland, John C. Connelly, Floyd Burger, Matthew Connor, Clifford Harris, Harold Johnston, Walter E. Hampton, Mortimer H. Lester, Herman H. Nesslage, Karl H. Messinger, Adalson A. Schultz, Eugene A. Rider, Edwin J. Messinger, Clarence H. Spangenberger, Evan D. Hummel and Ray M. Safford.

The Order of DeMolay has its password, grip and sign, and the new members were instructed in the manner in which they are given.

With Colonial Chapter now organized it is expected that it will grow in membership.

At the close of the institution of the chapter and the conferring of the Initiatory degree a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served.

The ceremonies were attended by a number of Masons from both Kingston and Rondout Lodges.

C. W. LEWIS DRAWS REBUKE

His Statements Regarding City's Wetness and Evil Influences on School's are Contradicted.

(Contributed.)

It is rarely indeed that a man who has occupied so important a position in a community as C. W. Lewis, late principal of the high school, in leaving a city where he has been kindly and courteously treated, should use the hospitality of a social organization of a church for denunciation of the city which has been his home.

Mr. Lewis at a gathering in the lecture room in the First Dutch Church last Thursday evening stated that "his business had been character building and training of leadership, it sometimes made him boil to think Kingston should be known as a decidedly wet city—to think that this beautiful gateway to the Catskills should be lined up with that discredited industry and social evil that breaks down everything the schools and churches stand for. The representatives of those interests highly organized and loud in their shouting and the steady moral and religious forces unorganized and through fear and timidity and indifference, doing nothing."

That statement was utterly lacking in truth. Kingston is not known as a decidedly wet city. It is not lined up with any discredited industry or any social evil that breaks down everything that the schools and churches stand for. The representatives of discredited industries and social evils are not highly organized and loud in their shouting and the steady moral and religious forces of it are not unorganized, are not intimidated, are not indifferent, and in the choice English of Mr. Lewis "doing nothing." Exactly the contrary is true. There is probably no city of its size in the state in which the Eighteenth Amendment and the laws for its enforcement are more obeyed and observed than Kingston; no place in which boot-legging and its attendant evils are more frowned upon; no place in which citizens of every grade unite in condemning violations of the law, and there certainly is no place in the United States of similar population in which the steady moral and religious forces are more thoroughly organized and more destitute or fear, timidity and indifference than in Kingston.

It is but a few days ago that the steady moral and religious forces of Kingston within a week raised $30,000 for the Young Men's Christian Association; it is but a few weeks ago that they raised over $10,000, much more than their allottted quota for the relief of the earthquake sufferers in Japan; it is but a few months ago that they raised $25,000 for a Young Women's Christian Association; at this moment they are constructing additions to two of the leading churches of the city. It is but the other day that they raised far more than their requested contribution to the International Red Cross, and in all that makes for righteousness, the churches of Kingston and their membership stand as always they have stood for the highest and the best moral forces. It is to be regretted that this statement was made without rebuke at a gathering held under the auspices of any portion of the membership of the First Dutch Church, for few organizations have been freer from the vice of false witness bearing than have the people who compose the congregation of that honored church.

TWO ESCAPE MONTICELLO JAIL

Alleged Murderer and Auto Thief Saw Way Out With Smuggled Hack Saws, Steal Auto and Get Six Hours Start.

Monticello, N. Y., Oct. 29.—Posses today were beating woods and patrolling roads out of Sullivan county in a wide flung hunt for George Barchi and Morris Raner, who escaped from the county jail here by sawing their way out with instruments thought to have been smuggled in to them.

Edward Hicks and H. Brown, prisoners in the jail, heard someone sawing bars about 1 o'clock Sunday morning and tried to arouse Deputy Sheriff Robert McNickle, 70 years old, who was sleeping at the front of the building. Being unsuccessful Hicks and Brown tried to sound an electric alarm bell, but it was out of order. Then they went to sleep again.

When Deputy Sheriff McNickle took the prisoners to breakfast at 7 o'clock he discovered that two were missing. They were George Barchi of West Hoboken, N. J., indicted for the murder of Policeman Edward Dollard here, and Morris Raner, held under $135,000 bail on indictments charging the theft of automobiles in New York, New Jersey, Ohio and Pennsylvania. They sawed off six bars with hack saws.

After getting out of the jail Barchi and Raner stole an automobile belonging to Henry Rumsey, which was in front of the Monticello Inn, and disappeared. Sheriff Pelton sent out a statewide alarm and all the roads in Sullivan county were guarded today. The fugitives had a clear start of six hours.

Deputy Sheriff McNickle and a trusty, Randy Arthur, were severely beaten several weeks ago by two prisoners, who attempted to escape. The men afterward said Raner had hired them to attack McNickle, steal his keys and open the jail door.

NOT INTERESTED IN DOYLE'S FATE

James Doyle, 17 Years Old, Picked Up Here By Police, But His Folks In New York Are Not Interested—Drunks And Other Cases.

James Doyle, 17 years old, who came to Kingston from New York city riding in an auto truck, was picked up Sunday morning by Officer Simpson on Fair street. James was "broke." The police learned that his folks were still residing in New York and telegraphed the New York police department who sent a man over to James's home. Later Sunday the local police received a telegram from the New York authorities stating that James's aunt had informed them that the family were not interested in what happened to the youth.

This morning Judge Schirick, when informed of the facts, decided to hold James for a few days until an investigation could be made of the matter and see if the boy's parents could not be compelled to look after him, and place him in an institution.

Nelson Bush of Howland avenue, who has been a fruit peddler all his life, was picked up Saturday night by Officer Harnen on a charge of public intoxication. This morning Bush was in court with his two sons, one 18 and the other 12. He informed the judge that he had supported the two boys and kept house since the death of his wife about eight years ago. The boys stated that their father usually came home drunk on Saturday or Sunday. Judge Schirick imposed a fine of $5 which Bush paid, and informed the father he would place the matter before Judge Fowler to have the living conditions at the Bush home investigated.

John E. Convey of Ponckhockie, who has not been arrested in three years, was picked up Sunday by Officer Dempsey on a charge of public intoxication. This morning John was fined $10, but, unable to pay, was remanded to the county jail.

John H. Clair was arrested Sunday on a warrant charging him with assault in the third degree. This morning Mrs. Clair, who had sworn out the warrant, was not in court to press the charge. Clair stated his wife would not be present as she was now in Brooklyn. As the wife failed to appear when the case was called for trial Clair was discharged.

ATHENS-HUDSON FERRY FLOUNDERS FOR 2 HOURS

Disabled, She Sinks Boats, Gets In Mud and Scares Passengers.

A score of passengers and a number of cars were inconvenienced and their safety endangered last Friday when the Athens-Hudson ferry met with difficulties on the 3:50 o'clock trip. The engines stalled when the reverse signal was given as the boat entered the Hudson slip and for two hours the boat drifted about. After drifting for a time the engines were started and then a sudden turn of the rudder snapped the steering cable. After striking a stone barge the boat drifted down stream striking a fleet of small boats and sinking a motor boat and a couple of flat boats. She then swung into a pocket between the dock and a barge where she laid aground until the steering gear was repaired. By that time the engines were powerless to pull her out of the mud and it was necessary to put a line on the barge and with the assistance of the crew and passengers she was finally swung free.

FELDMAN HAD A PUGNACIOUS FARE

Negro Not Only Beat Up His Lady Friend but Threatened to Shoot Sam Feldman, Local Taxi Driver, and Hit Sam On Head—Negro Is Jailed.

Sunday evening Sam Feldman, a local taxi driver, received a telephone call to No. 84 Bruyn avenue, and arriving there found two fares waiting for him, Horace Smith, a negro, and Miss Elsie Johnson, a negress, and was instructed to drive to Hutton's brickyard where Smith is employed. What followed led to an exciting night for Sam and the jailing of Horace for thirty days.

According to Mr. Feldman's story to Judge Schirick he had had Smith arrested on a charge of assault in the third degree in hitting him in the head with his fist. Feldman said that when they reached the brickyard on North street he stopped the car and Horace alighted and then dragged Miss Johnson out of the car and started to choke her. She broke away and jumped back into the car with Horace with one jump behind.

Miss Johnson informed Judge Schirick that when they got to North street Horace wanted her to get out of the car with him but she told him "No" she was going right back home.

The trip back to Bruyn avenue was started with both fares back in Feldman's car. At the top of the Delaware avenue hill Horace turned his attention to Feldman and threatened to shoot him. Feldman said he did not speak a word and the first thing he knew Horace's fist crashed through one of the windows of the closed car. As Sam looked around he saw Horace's fist starting in his direction and before he could duck it he was struck on the head.

Feldman said that Horace became more abusive and that he then stepped on the gas trying to get back to Broadway before Horace carried out his threat to shoot. Near the car barn he saw Officer Hess, but Feldman decided not to stop for fear Horace would start shooting. Near the city hall Feldman drove up to the curb shut off the power and "in three leaps I was inside the city hall explaining it to Sergeant Phinney."

Officer "Sime" Wood was assigned to the case and hurried back to the car and found that Horace and the girl had disappeared. They scouted around the streets for some time but failed to locate Horace. Later Officer Shoemaker was assigned to help Feldman and they drove over to Bruyn avenue where Miss Johnson paid the $1.50 taxi hire, but Horace was not there. Still later Officer Robert Healey accompanied Sam to the brickyard where they found Horace in bed. Officer Healey forced Horace to arise and dress and he was taken to the city hall.

This morning Horace when arraigned before Judge Schirick had a very convenient memory—that is for him—and told the judge he had been drinking some cracker-jack gin, and as a result he had no recollection of calling at the home of Miss Johnson Sunday evening, nor of going with her in Feldman's taxi. He had no recollection of any trouble at all, and in fact, did not even know what he was arrested for.

"Thirty days in the county jail may help refresh your recollection," observed Judge Schirick directing that Horace be removed from the court room.

ASSEMBLY FIGHT WAXES HOTTER

Misrepresentation of Issues Charged to Democrats; Republican Assembly Hampered Him Replies Smith.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Oct. 29.—The last week before election finds both Democrats and Republicans engaged in one of the hottest Assembly campaigns in years.

Governor Alfred E. Smith is leading the fight for the Democrats, while Speaker H. Edmund Machold is doing the honors for the Republicans.

Speaker Machold has charged Governor Smith and other Democratic leaders with misrepresenting the real issues.

Governor Smith replies that the tactics of the Republicans in the last Legislature, led by Speaker Machold prevented him from carrying out certain pledges made in the Democratic platform, which, he claims, would have been for the best interest of the state.

If the Democrats can gain seven new seats at the election next Tuesday they will be in control of the lower house of the Legislature. Up-state Democratic leaders are confident they will be successful.

This week Governor Smith will be in New York city most of the time, and it is expected he will make several campaign speeches.

Governor Smith has charged that Speaker Machold has not stood by the "truth" in all his campaign utterances. One particular instance of this, the governor said, was when the speaker said the governor wanted to include the education department in his plan to make all bureaus and commissions directly responsible to the chief executive.

The fact that the education department did appear in the first bill last year was a mistake, the governor said. He further stated that when the speaker called it to his attention he said it was a mistake and immediately had the measure amended.

Despite the claims of the Democrats, non-partisan observers at the capitol do not believe the 1924 Assembly will be Democratic.

The art in preparing good coffee is to get out its full strength without impairing its flavor, and that is where Pul-Vo-Drip excels.

PUL-VO-DRIP

Barrington Hall Coffee

Pul-Vo-Drip is cut so that boiling water has direct access to the volatile oils, insuring quick extraction of the full strength without loss of flavor. When it is necessary to cook coffee to get out the strength it develops a bitterness that mars its true taste.

DIRECTIONS

To prepare Pul-Vo-Drip in the ordinary pot simply add boiling water and allow to stand two or three minutes, then pour or strain into another vessel. In a percolator allow half the usual time. Quick infusion is the secret.

NEW RED CROSS CHAPTER OFFICERS

Named by Executive Committee—Roll Call Chairmen Chosen and Plans Made for Collection of Annual Dues Beginning Armistice Day.

There was an enthusiastic meeting of the executive committee of the Ulster County Chapter of the Red Cross held at the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday afternoon, those present being, Martin Cantine of Saugerties; Mrs. T. J. Hickey, Mrs. C. V. Hasbrouck of Rosendale; Mrs. Thomas Hayes, R. M. Rownd, Milton; Morris Block, Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck, Dr. Myron J. Michael, Mrs. W. N. Fessenden, Julge James Jenkins, E. E. Oughel-tree, Sylvanus Van Aken, Port Ewen; John D. Schoonmaker, Frank Coykendall, Mrs. M. D. Downer, Woodstock; the Rev. Father Scully, Dr. Mary Gage-Day. Martin Cantine presided at the meeting. The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Martin Cantine; first vice-president, Frank Coykendall; second vice-president, Mrs. M. B. Downer, Woodstock; third vice-president, R. M. Rownd, Milton; E. E. Oughetree, treasurer; Mrs. C. W. Hasbrouck, secretary.

Postmaster William C. DeWitt was named chairman for the city for the coming roll call. The chairman for the county will be announced tomorrow.

On request from Mrs. Hasbrouck she was granted a six months' leave of absence as secretary, without pay, because of ill health, and Miss Ruth Smith was appointed to act in her place, doing part time work and receiving proportionate compensation. In the absence of the secretary, Frank Coykendall acted as secretary pro tem.

Mr. Cantine announced that he would make public announcement of standing committees a little later.

It was the concensus of opinion that the one matter of first importance at this time was the arranging for the annual Red Cross roll call, which is simply the paying of one's dues in the biggest and best organization of mercy in the world, and which will begin on Armistice Day.

Ulster county has just shown in its amazing response to the appeal for help to stricken Japan, what it thinks of the Red Cross as an organized relief agency. Evidently the people of the county fully realize what it means in time of direst calamity to have such an organization all ready, practically on the instant, to give all the needed relief and more than asked-for relief.

In any other organization one pays their dues at the beginning of that organization's year and to fall in arrears as to dues or to fail to pay, marks one as having lost interest in the body with which they are connected. Because of the very great number of members, and because there is but one convenient way of getting the insignia of membership—in this instance the Red Cross banner and button for the year—to those members who promptly pay their dues, it cannot be left to the members to send in those dues. They must be collected, and in order that the funds may not run low because of the slowness of payment of some members, a certain time is set when the dues will be collected. This is called the annual Red Cross Roll Call, yet it is just paying one's dues in the Red Cross Society. The Roll Call begins on Armistice Day, as stated above, and if every person in Ulster County who took pride in what this county's Red Cross Chapter did for the Japanese relief will take half as much pride in promptly paying their annual dues of one dollar to the solicitor who calls to see them; or will leave their dollar for him or her, the Roll Call will be over within a very short time and with little extra trouble to anyone. By way of reminder as to the past spirit of the Ulster County Red Cross Chapter it may be well to state here, that when the chapter was formed, it was necessary to have twelve persons banded together to form such a chapter. The meeting was called on a rainy night, and thirty-seven instead of twelve people responded. During the first year of its existence, without any solicitation beyond that of newspaper appeal, the membership went beyond a hundred. Surely, all that the Red Cross has accomplished in the intervening years should so have increased the interest in this county that the thousands who have been members for some time will be as eager to make good their membership by paying their dues as were the first hundred members.

Nor is all the good done by this chapter, done to those far away. President Cantine told of this activity on the part of the local chapter: There is at Woodstock a French girl, the wife of an ex-soldier, who has expressed a wish to go back to her native land, but before going it is necessary for her to have an operation. The Red Cross has arranged to pay her expenses back to France, and then having so arranged appealed to the Rev. Father Scully for such leniency in the matter of having the girl operated upon at the Benedictine Hospital as might be possible. Father Scully had agreed to take care of the matter of the operation for this French girl, thus co-operating with the Red Cross of whose executive committee he is a member. President Cantine publicly thanked Father Scully for his generosity in the matter. Such acts as this can be done only by the creating of a sufficient fund from the dues of Red Cross members.

In order that the Roll Call, therefore might be immediately organized and so ready for action on Armistice Day, Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck moved that a committee be appointed by the chair to arrange for the same, securing Roll Call chairmen for the city and county, and attending to other necessary details, and the following committee was appointed, with the president including—John D. Schoonmaker, Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck, the Rev. Father Scully, Mrs. Thomas Hayes, Drs. M. B. Downer.

Colors Being Used in Evening Frocks

Orchid With Yellow Chic Novelty Feature Now in Forefront.

We do not think of practical values when we select the evening wardrobe, observes a fashion writer. That is why, perhaps, modistes are relegating their taffetas, satins and crepe knits to the rear of their shops and filling the windows with those elusive affairs which seem to be cloudy associations of ribbon, lace and the sheerest materials.

Bouffant effects add to this appearance. The opaque quality of ruffled material megely emphasizes the soft transparency of the single fold which forms the frock itself. We may combine our trimmings of ruffled ribbon, fluted lace, plaited self-material, or any of the numerous bits which designers have accomplished so cleverly this season. But we should keep in mind the fact that daintiness has its widest appeal in evening frocks.

Embroidered figures on a silk background are to be found among the collection of pretty frocks for the younger girl. Unusual color combinations have been achieved. One of the novelty effects, which is finding considerable popularity just now, is the use of orchid with yellow.

The yellow is used in an underslip of fine georgette and lace, while the orchid is placed in slender panels over the yellow foundation.

Lace has not stepped from the limelight, as we might have thought earlier. It was used in such abundance on the frocks for afternoon wear that we scarcely expected to see its popularity increase as the days advanced. Perhaps because the vogue for dyed lace came to the rescue, the vivid and unusual colorings in which the lace was offered gave the fad its new lease on life.

However, we are finding it made up into the most attractive dance frocks. Almond green lace, with an apricot georgette girdle, proves a fascinating combination. Melon pink, touched artfully with rosettes of old blue chiffon or gray, lighted with the iridescence of silver, is being seen at the smart dansants.

White stormed the sports world and was accepted. For the golf links, the country club or the shore we gave it first place. But we are rather surprised to see evidences of its popularity in the evening frocks when color is being used so widely.

An exquisite dance frock of white chiffon was the center of attraction in a room that fairly bloomed with the color effects of other gowns. Of particular simplicity were the lines of this white frock showing infinite skirts of chiffon, each dropping its pointed hemline a little below the other.

Straight Lines, With Flare From Knee Down

This type of gown is popular for afternoon wear. It is constructed of black satin, relieved by a touch of brilliantly colored embroidery.

Long Shoulder Lines Displayed in New Furs

In the fur fashions of the winter it reflected the tendency to exploit the same long shoulder line so apparent in costumes of other materials. Even when much material is used and there is perhaps a cleverly inserted godet plait in front or at the side, or when the attached piece at the bottom of coat or wrap is unmistakably circular, the effect is always of extreme slimness, an effect accentuated by the close little helmet or cloche hat which has been carried over from the modes of summer and still remains well in the lead of millinery fashions.

A Neat Closing.

A torn placket hole looks most untidy and can quite well be prevented in the following way: Sew a hook and eye at the very bottom of it on the wrong side, then hook it together and pinch the hook down tight. This keeps the placket hole quite neat, and it is almost impossible to tear it.

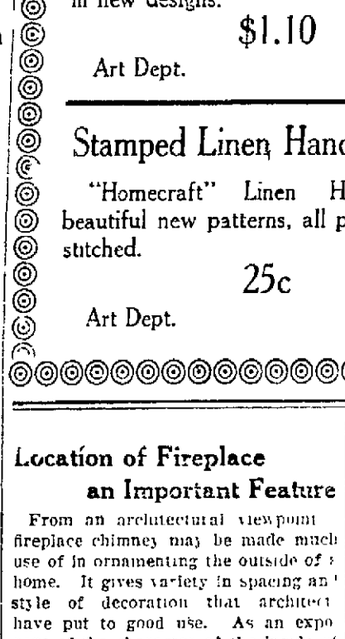
Location of Fireplace an Important Feature

From an architectural viewpoint fireplace chimney may be made much use of in ornamenting the outside of a home. It gives variety in spacing and style of decoration that architect have put to good use. As an exponent of the character of the inside of a house we could scarcely give passers-by a better impression than by this means.

If, on the other hand, one is willing to sacrifice this addition to the outside of his home, much may be gained on the inside by means of this sacrifice. By placing the chimney between walls an extra fireplace may be secured with but little additional cost. For instance, if the chimney is placed in the wall between the living room and the library an opening may be made from both of these rooms. In one home the chimney is utilized in four rooms.

In building fireplaces some general directions in regard to placing should be observed. If your room is quite large and the fireplace to be depended upon entirely for heating, the fireplace should be in the side of the room. If the room is narrow this would not be so well for the reason that one could not arrange the furniture advantageously and at the same time be comfortable himself. Everything would be too close to the fire.

If the shape of the room allows it, the fireplace should, for esthetic reasons, be so placed that it is in full view upon entering the room. A fireplace in a room is the dominant note in that room and must be accorded the place proper to its importance. Besides this, a room must not be furnished with its side to the arriving guests or members of the family. As the fireplace is the most important decorative unit of the room all the other pieces of furniture must be placed with this in mind.



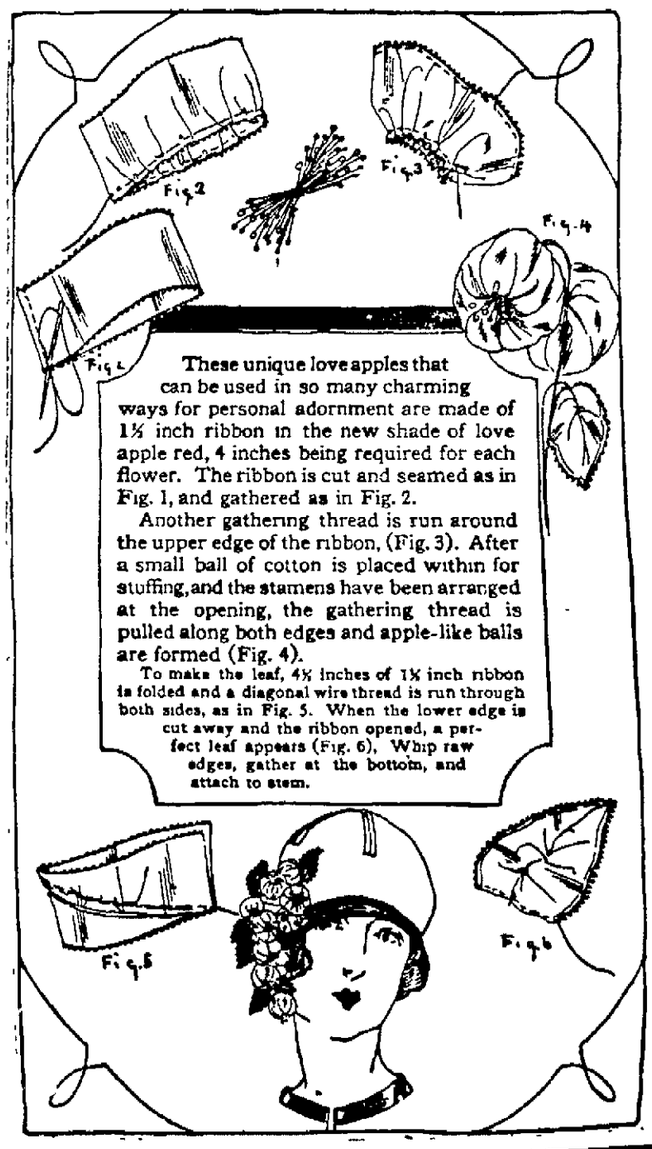
A Pleasing Fireplace.

Increases Perfume of Flowers.

A process, the invention of M. Daniel, professor of botany at Rennes, by which the perfume of flowers is greatly increased, has been explained before the Academie des Sciences in Paris. By taking two plants of the same species and grafting one on the other—notably a wormwood on a chrysanthemum—he found not only that the grafted wormwood developed remarkably, but its flower gave forth a perfume much more powerful than that of the original plant. Moreover the chrysanthemum had given to the wormwood flower something of its own perfume. The professor collected the seeds of the grafted wormwood and the following year obtained from them some fine plants. They had this peculiar feature—that while the flowers of some of the plants emitted a perfume similar to those of the original graft, others were absolutely without odor.

Airship Slide Rule.

A slide rule especially designed to aid in the solution of problems in airship navigation, has been developed by the United States bureau of standards.



These unique love apples that can be used in so many charming ways for personal adornment are made of 1½ inch ribbon in the new shade of love apple red, 4 inches being required for each flower. The ribbon is cut and seamed as in Fig. 1, and gathered as in Fig. 2.

Another gathering thread is run around the upper edge of the ribbon, (Fig. 3). After a small ball of cotton is placed within for stuffing, and the stamens have been arranged at the opening, the gathering thread is pulled along both edges and apple-like balls are formed (Fig. 4).

To make the leaf, 4½ inches of 1½ inch ribbon is folded and a diagonal wire thread is run through both sides, as in Fig. 5. When the lower edge is cut away and the ribbon opened, a perfect leaf appears (Fig. 6). Whip raw edges, gather at the bottom, and attach to stem.

WHERE DO YOU STAND, MR. WINFIELD?

Except for his unqualified declaration that he is "for 'Al' Smith's program," Holt N. Winfield remains silent as to his opinions and position in politics. What part in "Al Smith's program" have William H. Anderson's Anti-Saloon League, Brother Miller's Reform League, Dr. Chase's Citizens' League and those great and good directors of the destiny of the Republican party and the lives of those "along the river front." Young & Roberts, who declare that everyone who does not agree with them is a bootlegger? There is no question of the purity of Mr. Winfield's morals in private life, of his comfortable social and financial position or of the fact that he is a very nice young man, but just where does he stand on the question on which his opponent is being so violently assailed by Mr. Winfield's Prohibitionist and League friends?

The sincerity of Mr. Winfield's League and Prohibition supporters is not questioned by The Freeman. They are well meaning but misguided and intolerant would-be tyrants and it is only their mentality that is in question. Even that seems to be a question after one has read their fulminations against all who do not agree with them. We know where they stand and why, but where does Mr. Winfield stand?

PHYSICIANS "ON STRIKE."

It is startling to hear that 14,000 British doctors, members of a union, are threatening to go on strike for larger remuneration for their professional services. Physicians as well as clergymen have long been looked upon as above the level of wage workers and as men in duty bound to think little of money and much of service, even of service for which no pecuniary return is possible. This sentiment still survives on this side of the Atlantic at least, and hence the inevitably unpleasant impression made by the announcement of the attitude of 14,000 British members of a great and honorable profession. Further particulars, however, indicate that the threatened "strike" is not quite what is suggested by that term. It is gratifying to learn that the protesting physicians are not proposing to strike in the sense of refusing to treat cases of illness brought to their attention in the ordinary way.

It seems that in England the "panel doctor" is a sort of Government agent engaged to render professional services to large groups of the working population and to see to it that the health insurance laws are not utilized by malingerers to get doles and escape work. It is stated that the "panel doctors" do not like their job for more reasons than the insufficient compensation and 14,000 of them are protesting against a proposal to reduce their already scanty incomes by official order. No physician doing ordinary professional work could "strike" for higher pay and retain an atom of his reputation, but surely a British "panel doctor" has a right to resign if the Government employing him as a sort of medical detective does not provide him a living wage.

Realizing that the Fifth ward should be adequately represented in the common council the Republican party has selected Henry Fox as candidate for alderman, and it is expected that the voters of that ward will elect him to office by one of the largest majorities ever rolled up in the ward. Mr. Fox, while he has never held public office, is thoroughly familiar with the needs of the ward, and may be expected to fulfill the duties of an alderman in a manner that will reflect credit not only upon the Fifth ward but the entire city.

Dr. Harry P. Van Wagenen, who is now serving the First ward as its efficient representative in the common council, is a candidate to succeed himself, and should be returned to office by an even larger majority than that of two years ago. Dr. Van Wagenen is one of the best known physicians in this city, and during the years he has served as a member of the common council he has acquired a deep insight of the needs not only of the First ward but of the entire city. It is men of the type of Dr. Van Wagenen who are needed in city affairs and his experience gained during the past two years will be of great value to the entire city. The voters of the First ward will make no mistake in returning him to the common council.

Albert Vogel's nomination by the Republican party in the Seventh ward is a guarantee of a capable, able representative whose lifelong experience in the ward makes him thoroughly familiar with the needs of the ward, the city and the county. A member of a family whose reputation for integrity for many years has been more than county-wide, Mr. Vogel has displayed the qualities which American men and women admire in their fellow citizens. Especially do they admire such qualities in public officers. Mr. Vogel's experience and acquaintance have furnished him with more intimate knowledge of conditions throughout the city and county than is possessed by the average man or woman, and he will make one of the most capable representatives ever furnished by the city to the board of supervisors. Mr. Vogel stands for good government, and that is what the voters of the Seventh ward want.

WHY TAKE A CHANCE?

I heard an argument between two physicians one day, one a general practitioner and the other a lung specialist, that is worth recording. It was a case of a tubercular suspect, a young married man with a responsible position.

After making the physical examination there were symptoms that would point to tuberculosis, such as a constant cough, and an occasional night sweat, a very slight rise in temperature, and a tired out feeling.

On the other hand, the man had a good appetite, was losing very little weight, if any, and was at work every day. No germ could be located.

The physician and the specialist were old friends.

The diagnosis of the specialist was that it was early tuberculosis.

The diagnosis of the practitioner was that the man was a bit run down and just needed a tonic and a rest outdoors.

The specialist easily clinched the matter in this way.

"If I'm right and he has tuberculosis we've got him in good time, and he'll be a sure cure. Even if I'm wrong what about my treatment? Will it be good for him or not?"

The general practitioner was silent for a minute and then said:

"You're right. I have no right to have him take a chance."

The young man went to a well known sanitarium for nearly a year and came back strong and well.

That was nearly ten years ago and there has been no recurrence of his cough, temperature, night sweats or "tired out" feeling.

What's the lesson?

That every case of suspected tuberculosis should be treated as if it were really tuberculosis.

Even if the patient cannot or will not go to a sanitarium, the usual treatment for tuberculosis should be instituted.

It is simple enough—fresh air all the time, good nourishing food, rest most of the time, and then light exercise outdoors as strength returns.

In any case treat the suspect as a real case, and never "take a chance" in the matter.

VETERAN WINS POSTER PRIZE

W. B. Smith, a disabled soldier of the Veterans' Bureau, has won the hundred dollar prize offered for the best poster announcing the Eastern Apple Exposition and Fruit Show, to be held in Grand Central Palace from November 3 to 10. Mr. Smith, who is feeling rather happy over his award, recently was enrolled in the classes of art, taught by the members of the Society of Illustrators. Well known artists devote a portion of their time each week developing young men who show talent.

The poster, which has been reproduced in color, and measures 30 by 46 inches, represents the modern Adam and Eve in a quaint pose. Eve, a rosy-cheeked maiden of some five years, is standing beside her little Health Wagon, tempting Adam, a rather under-nourished youth of the same age. She holds out an apple to him, and Adam looks wistfully out of his bespectacled eyes, and stretches out his hand for the apple.

Between them, in the background, is a little yellow wagon with green wheels, labelled "Health Wagon," overflowing with big red apples, luscious purple grapes and golden pears. Eve herself stands as a witness to the power of the health wagon, with her sturdy little legs and her round red cheeks. Poor Adam is very thin, and his cheeks refuse to puff out. He is quite an appealing figure in his red and white blouse and his white cap, from under which his straight yellow hair sticks out most unexpectedly. Perhaps there is beauty also in the health wagon, for Eve has golden curls tied back by a blue ribbon.

There may be other Eves at the apple exposition because the poster announces "250,000 Apples Given Away—Bring a Bag."

At San Juan Hill

Above is a model of the statute of Theodore Roosevelt as Dwight L. Franklin, New York artist, pictures him leading his Rough Rider Regiment in the charge against the Spanish position at San Juan Hill in the Battle of Santiago. The statue, when completed, will be exhibited in the Roosevelt Memorial House, where Colonel Roosevelt was born, in East Twentieth street, New York city.

THE WEEK AT RONDOUT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The subject for the Thursday evening meeting of conference and prayer will be the "Hope That Sees From Afar."

The Ushers' Club of the church has decided to stage another entertainment on December 7, in the chapel. The boys have promised a bigger and better entertainment than that of last year, and it is expected that there will be a large attendance.

Arrangements are on foot for a father and son banquet at the Y. M. C. A. building on Friday evening, November 16.

At a meeting of the session last Tuesday it was decided to begin vesper services at 5 o'clock on the first Sunday of November in place of the regular Sunday evening church service.

HALLOWE'EN ENTERTAINMENT TO BE HELD TUESDAY NIGHT.

The boys of Harry G. Smith's Sunday school class of the Rondout Presbyterian Church will give a characteristic Hallowe'en entertainment and party in the chapel of the church Tuesday evening. Refreshments will be served after the Hallowe'en games and it is hoped that all who attend will come in costume, if possible. The boys of the class have been working hard to make this a most successful evening for those who attend. A small admission will be charged.

POST MORTEMS ON SATURDAY'S GAMES

Harvard Falls by Wayside but Yale, Dartmouth and Host of Others Must Play Further Before Any One Looms Up as Best.

(By Davis J. Walsh.)

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Oct. 29.—Into each life, they say, a little rain must fall and today some few of our esteemed football teams are all wet. Up at Cambridge, for example, it is neither rain nor violets. It is raining large crimson tears over the convincing defeat of Harvard by Dartmouth, the third scored by the latter in 30 years of endeavor.

The outcome of that game served two purposes, namely, it confirmed the suspicion that Harvard is not what it might be and elevated Dartmouth to the front rank of eastern elevens. Others retaining that status are Yale, Syracuse, Cornell, Penn State, West Virginia and Washington and Jefferson.

In the middle west and out on the west coast the situation remained unchanged, although several Big Ten reputations were tarnished. In addition the south lost several games and much prestige. Centre College and Georgia Tech being badly worsted by Pennsylvania and Notre Dame respectively. California however, maintained its domination over the coast situation by beating Washington State while Stanford was finishing second to Southern California.

Notre Dame, Michigan, Illinois, Chicago and Wisconsin, remained at the top of the heap in the middle west, the first three named being the outstanding elevens. Chicago lost prestige when it entered the second half one touchdown behind Purdue and the Badgers proved they were not as irresistible as early season scores would indicate when they were held to a scoreless tie by Minnesota, making its 1923 conference debut.

In the south the most noteworthy effort was credited to Vanderbilt, the commodores shaking off the effect of the Texas defeat in time to run up seventeen points on Tulane.

Yale was impressive in beating a veteran Brown team by three touchdowns, this accomplishment lending color to the report that Yale is easily the Big Three class this season. Yale will do well, however, not to count its Tigers before they are hatched.

Princeton was one hundred per cent better team in tying the Navy than it was against Notre Dame. The attack lacked authority but the evidence was that Roper has his team coming. It is likely to arrive at any moment.

Cornell ran out of victims for the day and did not play but Syracuse found one in Springfield and ran up another impressive total while the much ballyhooed West Virginia-Penn State affair ended in a tie but Penn State had what honors there were. West Virginia proved a disappointment.

Washington and Jefferson can be rated as a "Sleeper" after its defeat of Detroit. Little has been heard of the Presidents but they will speak their little piece in due time.

BRITISH ARE NOT ENTHUSIASTIC

Over France's Restrictions on New Reparations Council—Evidently Want U. S. to be Given Power to Commit Itself Far as Possible.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Oct. 29.—Government circles today were not optimistic over the outcome of the proposed international conference to deal with reparations and were inclined to regard France's conditions as so drastic as to nullify the value of the meeting and perhaps prevent the United States from participating.

A cabinet meeting was imminent, perhaps this evening, to discuss the French reply to the British note proposing an international committee to deal with the indemnity problem.

British official opinion regards Premier Poincare's Sunday speech at Sampigny as reflecting an inflexible attitude and imposing restrictions which were not contained in the French note to Great Britain.

There were several points in the French premier's speech which offer obstacles:

1. France will refuse to make any concessions.

2. The committee must make no effort to reduce the amount of reparations due France.

3. The committee must agree to continued occupation of the Ruhr.

It is learned that the Belgian reply to the British proposals backs up France's position limiting the conference of experts to a mere inquiry into Germany's resources.

The Italian reply points out the desirability of Allied unity.

TRYING TO RAISE O-5 AND THE DEAD

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Balboa Heights, Panama, Oct. 29.—United States naval authorities with floating cranes were making efforts today to raise the sunken submarine O-5 in the extreme hope that at least some of the missing five sailors may be imprisoned and not dead.

The submarine collided with United Fruit liner Abangarez while entering Cristobal and sank immediately. The Abangarez was not damaged. The O-5 was moving on the surface at the time, accompanied by two other submersibles.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

COPYRIGHT BY WESTERN NEWSPAPER UNION

MOOSWA THE GREAT

"Greatest of all the members of the deer family," said Daddy, "is the moose. He is the most splendid of all the deer in the great wide world and he is splendid in looks and in strength and in brains.

"The moose is called Mooswa in Indian talk, which means wood eater. For the moose love strange things to eat, you see.

"Sometimes the timber wolves fight this mighty monarch, but oh, the moose is brave and few can win a victory over him.

"As you know, he loves the great northern parts of the country and he loves the woods and the quiet streams away from people.

"If he has been taught from a baby moose to be with people he is not afraid.

"But he is not anxious to take any chances if he has not been used to people. For to him people are creatures with guns and guns cannot be fought against.

"The moose is very tall when he is full grown. He is brownish gray in color and he runs very quickly. The baby moose is only seventy five pounds in weight when born, which isn't much considering that later on a moose becomes so enormous.

"A mother moose keeps her little calf with her for some time, and he follows her about, walking everywhere after her though once in a while she leaves him covered up in the thick woods while she goes off marketing by herself.

"If the baby moose is a boy she is very careful that his father shall not see him, for a father moose is very jealous of a little boy in the family, fearing the boy may become a greater moose than he is.

"It is when the boy is be baby too that the father is so jealous, and so the mother keeps them separated so that her darling baby moose will not be killed by his father.

"But the moose I am going to tell you about was named Mooswa the Great.

"He had lived and roamed the woods where it was cold and wild, but still where people came, more and more every year, with great guns to hunt the moose family.

"Many members of his family had been moving farther and farther north. They were brave, but they did not want to take any chances and they did not consider guns fair enemies somehow.

"So they had left and Mooswa the Great had few companions or even few relatives in his neighborhood.

"Mooswa lived in a low swamp near a wooded river and there the willow twigs, which Mooswa loved so dearly, were delicious. These were fine in the winter time and in the autumn, too.

"In the summer the water reeds in these parts were especially good.

"But it was autumn now and Mooswa was thinking of many things. Mostly, though, he was thinking of one thing, and that one thing was love.

"Into the heart of the great king of animals had come love, and he wondered if the beautiful Miss Moose, whom he had seen and admired would become his mate.

"He was modest for all his greatness and splendor and majesty—perhaps it was his modesty that helped to make him so great, for he never went backwards by being conceited.

"So he went, his great heart beating foolishly, to see Miss Moose and he told her of his love.

"'I so wish you would do me the great honor to become my mate,' he said.

"'It would make me so happy to wander with you through this winter which is now approaching. We could travel so far, we could see so much. Perhaps we could go farther north, where the guns are fewer and yet where still there are willow swamps.

"'We could see so much of the great forest world and of the deep underbrush lands.'

"Miss Moose had for some time admired Mooswa the Great. She had admired every bit of his splendid twelve hundred pounds of moose strength and beauty and when she heard his splendid voice making love to her it was all she could do to keep from crying—so happy was she.

"So off went Mooswa the Great with his bride. He shed his shovel-like antlers in the early winter and began growing new ones, but all the time they wandered through the snow, farther north where guns would not put an end to their happiness."

GAS BUGGIES—Transcontinental Tour—"Some of 'Em Never Will Learn."

The KITCHEN CABINET

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

Beauty mingled with invention, founded on the observation of nature, is the mainspring of decorative design. If it is not beautiful, it has no right to exist, if not founded on observation of nature, it can hardly be either beautiful or inventive. It is apt to become merely strange and monstrous when it departs from nature.—William Morris.

THINGS TO THINK ABOUT

Too many homes are filled, or good space used, for things that are both strange and monstrous; it is a question, even if we have passed the golden oak stage, the painted dustpans, and wood chopping bowls, whether we have improved or gone back. There are so few homes with restful spaces, walls with a picture or two and those worth having and keeping and daily enjoying. A landscape window or group of windows looking out on a beautiful scene, whether land or waterscape, is much more to be desired than anything one may hang on the walls. However, we may not all have these beautiful pictures of nature in our homes, so we feed our souls not with the hyacinths; but with substitutes.

In the fall and spring when the house is given the semi-yearly going over, is a good time to weed out many things that have been wished upon us or we have purchased and regretted.

How many closets are too full of clothes, never to be worn again, which might be passed on, made over and enjoyed by some one?

How many take the trouble to bind together the leaves of a good story taken from the magazines, to give to a sick friend who is not strong enough to hold a book or magazine? Such stories are always welcomed in hospitals. Scrap books for the children may be made from the various cover pages of magazines, many of them most beautiful in color and design. A few minutes now and then spent in looking over such treasures and taking a half day to get them ready will be time well spent. This is good work for the young people in the home, helps them to think of others, and with an older head to arrange and plan, they can do it as well as mother. Take a rainy day when the youngsters are teasing for something to do and make half a dozen scrap books.

Exhausting coughs that wear you out—

you can stop them quickly

Day and night a cough wastes your strength and steadily paves the way for more serious and perhaps permanent complications.

Yet you can stop it quickly with Dr. King's New Discovery. It breaks up coughs by stimulating the mucous membranes to throw off the secretions that are clogging them. Harmlessly and effectively the throat and chest spasms are quieted and the irritation that is causing the cough promptly clears away. It has an agreeable taste. For more than fifty years, thousands of families all over the country have relied upon it. Get a bottle today. All druggists.

Strength-wasting coughs can be stopped quickly with this simple household remedy.

THERE are certain things in life which permit of no "second best", and one of these is coffee. Either it is good or it is poor. Your sense of taste refuses to be satisfied with anything less than the first, while the second may spoil the entire day.

For years we have roasted Reliance Coffee by a special process which brings out every bit of flavor to its fullest.

FACTORY WAGES SHOW INCREASE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Oct. 29.—Factory workers' earnings averaged $27.41 a week in New York state in September. This is a slight increase (29 cents) over the figures for August and a slight decrease compared with July. Earnings are now higher than they were throughout last year and $1.70 higher than they were in September a year ago. This statement was issued today by Industrial Commissioner Bernard L. Shientag.

There are conflicting tendencies in the various industries and sometimes within the same industry, where one plant reports dull business at the same time that another is expanding operations. On the whole there is no indication of a downward turn. The number of wage rate increases in September was relatively small compared with the widespread increases in the spring but a number of workers were advanced. The increases were scattering and represent more a levelling process than general advances. A few decreases were reported but their influence on the total was negligible. Average earnings were reduced in September, however, because of the Jewish holidays, especially in New York city, and because of the fairs in some of the upstate cities.

The most important increases in earnings from July to September were seasonal gains, as in the millinery factories and the canneries, and those due to increased activity in preparation for the Christmas trade, as in the piano and silverware factories. Earnings went up in the cement mills which have been very active and in the rubber factories which have been quite dull.

Captain E. H. Watson.

Captain Edward H. Watson, U. S. N., who commanded Squadron 11 of the Pacific fleet, from the flagship Delphy, is now on trial, with 10 of his officers, before a general court-martial, in San Francisco, in connection with the wrecking of eight of his vessels, which were piled up on the rocks of the California coast in a thick fog. All the vessels were total wrecks. Several lives were lost. It is admitted the ships were far off their course when the accident occurred.

TOWN IS 100,000 YEARS OLD

Quarternary City, of the Mammoth Age, Believed to Have Been the World's "London" at One Time.

A human settlement, estimated to be at least 7,000 years old, has been unearthed at Holmegaardsmose, according to dispatches from Denmark. This may sound old when you recollect that Tutankhamen lived some 3,000 years ago, but the archeologist knows of prehistoric towns that make the discovery of Holmegaardsmose look almost like Golders Green.

Most remarkable of them all is the Quarternary town, of the Mammoth Age, that exists a couple of miles east of Prerov, in Moravia. This town is so extensive that it may well have been the world's "London" about 75,000 or 100,000 years ago. More than 25,000 flint implements and hundreds of objects, many of them very artistic, of reindeer bone and horn and mammoth ivory have been excavated already, with Quarternary human skull and bones.

There were no glue factories and other mysterious industrial destinations for butcher bones in those days, with the result that bones of animals slaughtered for food accumulated to such an extent that they must have been an unmitigated nuisance—bones of bison and stag, woolly rhinoceros and mammoth, and the rest of a prehistoric city's "daily bread," year in, year out, for centuries. Here, in Predmost (as the village above it is now called), the bones of more than 800 great hairy mammoths have been turned up.

In this extraordinary Quaternary city, which has not yet been thoroughly explored, Maska found a sepulchral chamber containing 14 complete human skeletons of the Mammoth Age, and parts of six others. That they were a tall folk was shown by the length of the femurs. Round the neck of one of these skeletons—that of a child—was a necklace of 14 small mammoth ivory beads.

One hundred thousand years ago woman combed her hair with ivory combs cut from the dreaded monster mammoth's tusks. So she does today up in the Siberian Arctic. And very good combs, too.

Montrose Noted as General.

As a general, James Graham, marquis of Montrose, ranks first among the Scottish Royalists. In 1640 he was the first to cross the Tweed in the Scottish invasion of England. The following year, being found in secret correspondence with the king, he was imprisoned by Argyle for several months. In 1642 he was offered the command of the Covenanting army, but declined, and in the following year was definitely turned to the Royalist side. He united the western clans, united by their common hatred of Argyle against the Covenanters, and with them he won several victories, only to be crushed the same year, when he escaped to Norway.

In 1649 Montrose succeeded in urging the younger Charles to send him again to Scotland. He raised an army, was defeated, and afterward captured and taken to Edinburgh and there drawn and quartered. His loyalty to the Stuart cause is only less remarkable than his own scheme of Scottish independence of ecclesiastical control. —Detroit News.

Ravages of Man-Eaters.

India is not the only country afflicted with the man-eater. In Uganda in one year lions killed as many as 22 Europeans, 12 Hindus and 167 natives while employed in the construction of a railway. These figures do not include such natives as were not in the employment of the railway; a local administrator estimated the loss of life in their case at something over 500.

In a single year the lions of Rhodesia are reported to have claimed 119 victims; those of West Portuguese Africa accounted for more than 200 people, including three European hunters.

NEW KIDNAPPING MYSTERY IN N. Y.

Four Year Old Boy Disappears From in Front of His Grand Street Home—Army of Detectives On Case.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Oct. 29.—Police were working today on another mysterious kidnapping. The latest victim whom detectives are seeking, is Irving Pickelny, four years old, who disappeared from in front of his home 358 Grand street, last Friday. No trace of the boy has been found.

Captain Cornelius Willemse, in charge of the hunt, said today he believed a woman of unsound mentality probably was keeping the child somewhere in New York.

The abduction, according to the police, is as baffling as the case of little Lillian McKenzie, three months old, who vanished last August 18, from her baby carriage parked in front of a Fourteenth street five and ten cent store. Efforts to find her have been unsuccessful.

Captain Willemse said the Pickelny case is the most puzzling he has worked on in fifteen years, and said he would put his entire force of detectives on it today.

The parents of the boy, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Pickelny, have been married six years and Irving was their only child. They said they had no enemies or money to be gained by kidnappers.

One rumor took the police to Rutherford, N. J., but an investigation established it as false.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action, it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of trouble and destroys the germs that lead to serious complications.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in treatment of chronic coughs and colds, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

Choosing Cheese.

Do not choose cheese solely by its color, for color has very little to do with its quality, says an English paper. A deep yellow is produced by the addition of coal tar or other coloring matter, and does not indicate rich cheese. Texture, on the other hand, is the best indication of quality. Good cheese cuts grainy, rather than waxy, is reasonably solid, and not too greasy Crumbly cheese is likely to be acid. When cheese is new it is mild in flavor, when well ripened it develops a sharper and stronger taste. There is no scientific reason for the statement that strong cheese has undergone putrefaction.

In Memoriam.

Nellie Bonesteel Van Demark.
Five long years ago you left us
Darling sister kind and true,
And my heart is filled with sorrow
When my thoughts go back to you.
If I only had you near me
I would go daily to your grave,
But you're miles away in a lonely field,
Where the grasses round you wave.
Dear little ones you left behind
Were parted here and there,
That I could see them all together,
Is my daily, hourly prayer.
A LONELY SISTER, EMMA.

In loving memory of Peter J. Longtoe who passed away October 28, 1922.

Sad and sudden was the call
Of one so dearly loved by all,
There was no chance to say farewell
To those he loved so well.
But peaceful may you rest dear brother
We love to breathe your name,
In life we loved you dearly
In death we do the same.
Gone but not forgotten.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Oct. 29.—The selling movement, which was in progress in the closing session of last week, continued in the forenoon trading on the stock exchange today. Steady pressure was exerted against the general list, resulting in lower prices in most groups.

The market struck a firmer tone in afternoon trading, many issues which were under pressure earlier in the day rallying moderately from their low levels.

The Scout movement, stressing as it does the obligation of a Boy Scout to live up to the religion of his fathers and yet at the same time requiring him to respect the opinion of others in matters of custom and religion, makes it possible for all citizens to support the movement. In fact, it is the sincere desire of the men promoting this movement to have representatives from every phase of the community life. In reality, the Boy Scout work is more than an organization, it is a movement and is so designed as to take nothing away from any other community organization but rather to place a desire among the boys to be more faithful to their school duties, their church obligation and more careful observers of their government's regulations.

The sum of $12,000, is needed to carry on the work for the coming year and to liquidate the present outstanding obligations. The actual solicitation for funds will take place on the 14th, 15th and 16th of November with an opening dinner on Tuesday evening, 13th of November when the prospect cards will be distributed and the teams instructed in the details of the campaign.

The following endorsement has been received from Louis S. Coe, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce:

"Having personally observed the possibilities of the work of the Boy Scouts, I am glad to add my work of commendation of this movement

"A youth is the most treasured asset of a nation and to conserve and direct the energy of our boys and to enable his spirit and to set before him the highest standards of Americanism, of physical well being and personal integrity is the endeavor of the Boy Scout work, and I trust this endeavor in Ulster county will receive the cordial support.

RANCH AT CENTER OF U. S. TO BE CUT UP AND SO[LD]

Land in Nebraska Is Known as "1733" as It Is That Distance From Either Side.

The center of the United States is going to be cut up into small un[its] and sold.

The center of the country is th[e] "1733 ranch" just west of Kearne[y], Neb. It is called "1733 ranch" becau[se] it is just 1,733 miles from New Yo[rk] city and just 1,733 miles from Sa[n] Francisco. The farmhouse on th[e] ranch is the east-and-west center [of] the United States. All coast-to-coa[st] automobile tourists on the Linco[ln] highway pass right in front of th[e] deer. And transcontinental passe[n]gers on the Union Pacific railroa[d] pass alongside the ranch for a mile o[r] two.

There are 1,400 acres of fine land i[n] the ranch and the entire tract is to b[e] cut into 40-acre farms and sold. Ne[-] braska is beginning to see, and to b[e-] lieve that a farmer can make jus[t] about as much money on a small bod[y] of land where he can do all the wor[k] himself as he can make on a big farm where he has to hire most of the wor[k] done.

At present the "1733" belongs to a hotel syndicate and is being used t[o] produce butter, eggs and poultry fo[r] the different hotel units. But the chai[n] is going out of business and it ha[s] been decided to subdivide the bi[g] ranch and sell it off in small tracts.

TURKISH GIRLS HIT VAMPS

Declare Russian Women Are Too Good Looking.

There are too many attractive Russian refugees on the Turkish marriage market to suit local fair ones, it appears. For a petition has been solemnly signed, sealed and sent to the government of the grand national assembly at Angora demanding the expulsion of all foreign women under forty years of age.

The petitioners alleged that since the arrival of the refugees a Turkish girl cannot win or buy a husband with any hope of keeping him. The Russians are all too good looking, or have too many jewels, or possess the charm of novelty. Consequently, the Turkish girls want their government to cut off the importation and deport the Volga "vamps."

Andrew and Gertrude Griffin.

Kidnapped six years ago, Andrew Griffin, 14 of Rockland, Me., has been restored to his mother by an odd freak of chance. His kidnappers are facing prosecution. A small boy walked into Mrs. Griffin's store in Rockland a few days ago to buy some candy. Although it was raining, his companion stayed outside. Mrs. Griffin took the shy boy in and washed him up. He was startlingly like her kidnapped son she took him into the living room of her home, where he instantly recognized a photograph of his father. He said he had been kidnapped onto a boat by a man who had previously asked his mother for permission to adopt him. He was sent to Bangor and kept by a niece of this man, but when rewards stirred up a search for the child this niece had him committed to the Maine State Reformatory, declaring he was an illegitimate child. Three years later he was released and made to do menial labor on the farm of another relative of the kidnapper, in Nova Scotia. Recently this man kicked him off the farm, and he has been tramping around the country. He has absolutely no education. He is shown here with his sister, after the reunion.

VOTE "YES" ON BOND ISSUE FOR SAFE INSTITUTIONS

Voters Should Guard Against Repetition of Ward's Island Fire Where 25 Died.

OTHER BUILDINGS FIRETRAPS

Thousands of Insane Housed in Buildings 40 to 70 Years Old—Lack of Room For Crippled Children, Feebleminded, Epileptic and Cases of Curable Tuberculosis—State Hospitals Crowded 7,300 Beyond Decent Capacity.

Voters of this county and other parts of New York State will have an opportunity on Election Day to vote on a proposal to protect the insane, feebleminded, crippled children, epileptics, and curable cases of tuberculosis from fire and other dangers.

On the same ballot with the Constitutional Amendments, and immediately following the Amendments, they will find Proposition Number 1. This would authorize the State to issue bonds in an amount not to exceed $50,000,000 to replace obsolete, fire-trap buildings at the State hospitals and other State institutions with modern, fireproof buildings, and to relieve the dangerous overcrowding.

Citizens should vote "Yes," and thereby protect the unfortunates for whose care the State is responsible.

Voters will recall that on February 18, 1923, twenty-two insane patients and three attendants were burned to death in a fire which destroyed a portion of one of the buildings of the Manhattan State Hospital for the Insane, on Ward's Island, New York City. This building was built fifty-three years ago, before modern methods of fireproofing were known.

Several thousand helpless victims of mental disturbance live in equally dangerous or more dangerous buildings in various parts of the State. At any moment untold human suffering and loss of life may occur. Many buildings are from 40 to 70 years old.

Even before the tragic fire at Ward's Island it was known that the State hospitals were crowded nearly 25 per cent beyond decent and safe capacity.

In these hospitals, intended to provide at the utmost for 31,000 patients, there are over 38,000 patients.

The Governor and the Legislature have fulfilled their obligation to the State's unfortunates by passing the act proposing a bond issue of $50,000,000.

If the proposal should fail of approval, the responsibility for further fires, which are liable to occur in these old buildings at any moment, cannot any longer be put on the Governor, the Legislature or any State Board, Commission or official. It will rest squarely on the individual citizen.

Dangerous Mental Defectives

The State has undertaken to care for such types of the feeble-minded as are a menace to their fellows and to themselves. It has begun, but not completed, several institutions for their care. One institution, begun in 1907, is still less than half finished.

Crippled Children and Tuberculous

In 1900 the State established a State hospital for incipient tuberculosis in the Adirondacks and a State Hospital for Crippled Children. Both have long been unable to receive many sufferers of these types. The State Hospital for Crippled Children, near New York City, is not readily accessible from the western and northern parts of the State. Consequently curable cases of tuberculosis have passed on to the incurable stage, and crippled children who might have been cured or greatly improved have become permanently disabled.

Not a Heavy Burden

Fifty million dollars, though it may seem large, would, when spread over 25 years, represent a per capita debt of only $4.65—an annual per capita payment on principal of 19 cents!

Citizens have every assurance that the funds, not more than one-quarter of which may be spent in any one year (and these years need not necessarily be consecutive if building or other conditions are unfavorable), will be wisely expended.

The Legislature must authorize the funds in each instance and must approve the selection of buildings for which the money is to be spent. The contracts are let under competitive bidding. The plans must be approved by the State Architect, by the State Hospital Commission or other State body responsible for the administration of the institutions in the various groups, and also must be approved by the members of the local Boards of Managers of the institutions.

From start to finish the expenditure of these funds will be under close official and public scrutiny.

Failed for Thirty Years

For thirty-three years the State hospitals have been overcrowded. Year after year legislators and governors have planned to remove these dangers and evils. But the pressure upon current tax funds has been too great. All these good plans have been whittled down, postponed or abandoned, and the situation is now worse than it has ever been. The fact is clear; it can't be done. Thirty years of consecutive failure are conclusive. The only way the unfortunate dependents of the State will ever receive proper care is to bring all these arrears of the past up to date by an adequate bond issue.

What Became of the Peddler?

EVEN in remote regions, the once-familiar figure of the peddler is rarely seen. In the cities the brass-lunged huckster has practically disapeared.

Advertising has banished those outworn hangers-on of trade. Through advertisements, women learned discontent with the limited choice offered by the peddler's pack and the huckster's cart.

Advertising teaches us to be more exact in judging values; to require things to measure up to better standards; to make better use of every cent we spend.

Advertising has done away with haphazard choosing by showing how wide and precise a choice you really can have. Haphazard buying is going the same route. People who read advertisements know what is what—and they make sure they get it at the right price!

Advertisements give you living news of economies Read them regularly!

Jugo-Slavs Rich in Folk Songs.

Of all Europeans the Jugo-Slavs are said to have developed most fully the art of folk-lore narrative. Folk-poems, now a feature of immigrant life in America, constitute a strong and vivid link between modern times and the immemorial days of heathen supremacy in southeastern Europe.

In this literature to which the Jugo-Slav immigrants give themselves there is an interesting separation of the masculine from the feminine poems.

The former are sung always by one person, while his audience tries to memorize the words and meaning. Such poems are always epic in character.

The feminine poem may be sung by one or more persons in unison, and is often done by two voices, without accompaniment, and merely to please the singers themselves. Ordinarily lyrical, the feminine poem may at times be an epic in nature, but it is always shorter than the other.—Detroit News.

Distinction Accorded to Great Tribes Which Long Opposed the Advance of White Settlers.

With the possible exception of the much less generally known Ojibway, the Sioux is the largest tribe of American Indians north of Mexico, says a bulletin of the National Geographical society.

The unforgettable names and the dramatic incidents that the history of the Sioux has yielded are sufficient alone to give them a prominent place whenever Indians are the subject of thought. Red Cloud, Crazy Horse, Rain-in-the-Face, and the redoubtable Sitting Bull were Sioux. The Sioux have had a greater hand at furnishing our best-known geographic names than any other division of Indians. Dakota, Minnesota, Nebraska, Omaha, Arkansas, Kansas, Iowa and Missouri are a few examples, most of them the names of Siouan sub-tribes.

The Sioux call themselves "Dakotas." "Sioux" is a contraction of a French corruption of an Ojibway word meaning "little snakes" or "enemies." Until comparatively recently the Sioux have been consistent enemies of the new Americans. They assisted the English both during the American Revolutionary war and the War of 1812, and practically every advance westward which the white settlers have since made has been vigorously contested by the Sioux.

THOUSANDS JOINED IN LAUGH

Sound in Theater Described as a "Sort of Chaotic Shriek, Not in the Least Human."

It happened at a performance of "Israel in Egypt" during the Handel festival of 1859. The queen was present, and Costa, the conductor, conceived the happy idea that the audience should join with chorus and orchestra in the performance of the national anthem, in honor of her majesty, which feature he proposed to introduce with sonorous roll of drums.

The idea was all right, but the final hitch came when the drummer could not hear what Costa said, and the latter tried to convey his meaning by guttural vocal sounds, while he beat an imaginary drum with his baton! Chorus and orchestra gazed at these unseemly antics at a loss, and then someone tittered.

It was catching; and in less than a moment, five thousand people were helpless with laughter. The infection spread to the audience, and all sense of decorum fled as the laughter swelled from five, to thirty-two thousand voices.

"It was a sort of chaotic shriek, not in the least human, but worth hearing for once," wrote a spectator of the scene.

Thankful for Typewriter.

We wonder now how folks ever got along without an instrument which produces legible manuscript. It may in time reduce the knowledge of chirography to the mere matter of penning one's own name, but how much time it has saved already from deciphering illegible writing is beyond computation. The typewriter makes for speed, but the greatest boon it conferred has been in removing the need for the scrawl with the pen.

While many of the present-day utilities which are indispensable have had their development in the last half century, for those whose job it is to make records or grind out "copy" none is entitled to a higher rank than the typewriter, which produces that which may be read easily. And from those on whom falls the duty of reading what others have written, blessings are showered on those who have brought the typewriter into such general use.—Exchange.

Cause for Grief.

The little boy with the rather grubby face was crying lustily in the street when a kind old lady, who happened to be passing, stopped and asked him the cause of his grief.

"Boo, hoo! 'Cause I've lost a penny," was the tearful rejoinder. "Mother gave it to me and I can't find it anywhere."

"Ah, never mind," said the kind old soul, as she took her purse out of her pocket. "Here's another penny for you."

The child instantly stopped his howling and took the penny in his grimy hand. The old lady passed on, but she had not gone far when she heard howls louder than ever coming from the boy. Retracing her steps she asked the reason of his renewed lamentations.

"I'm crying 'cause—'cause if I hadn't lost that first penny I should have had two now!"

His Happiest Moment.

She cuddled close to him, for it was the seventh anniversary of their marriage.

"Archie, dearest," she whispered, "what was the happiest moment of your life."

"Ah," he replied, "how well I remember it! I can never forget—not even if I rival Methuselah in age! It will always stand out as plainly as it does tonight!"

She sighed and nestled closer.

"And when was it, Archie, love?" she pressed.

"Have you not guessed?" he answered. "It was when you came to me last month and told me your mother would not be able to spend her usual four months' visit with us this year!"

And they lived happily ever after.—Exchange.

Red Cross Aid to Disabled Ex-Service Men Increasing

DISABLED VETERANS IN HOSPITALS RECEIVE INDIVIDUAL AID FROM RED CROSS WORKERS

Washington—Five years after the armistice ending the World War, reports of American Red Cross services in behalf of the men who wore the uniform of the United States refute any belief which might exist that the wounds of that conflict are nearly healed. In urging an increase in membership enrollment during the Red Cross Roll Call opening on Armistice Day, Nov. 11, facts convincingly supported by authoritative statistics are issued by the national organization showing that assistance was extended by the Red Cross to about 200,000 former service men or their families, and 62,296 instances of definite and specialized aid to men in hospitals were noted in the past year.

In all hospitals 34,793 soldier patients were registered, while from March to October dispensaries and out-patient clinics gave 44,845 treatments and 22,309 examinations. On Sept. 1 there were 73,276 former service men undergoing vocational training, all of which indicates that the Red Cross in supplementing the work of the government physicians and nurses by helping to make the patient contented, by allaying worry over his family, furnishing personal services and providing recreation and entertainment, has an increasingly large work to do in this paramount activity.

In this activity $5,856,255 was expended by Red Cross Chapters and the national organization during the last year.

One problem in which the Red Cross alone is meeting a financial demand is that of the transient disabled ex-service man and his family who must be cared for while traveling from place to place. In personal loans and grants to these travelers $138,334.71 was spent during the year. The variety of Red Cross service also embraces straightening out complicated claims, supplying recreational equipment to veterans' training centers, furnishing capital loans to blind veterans that enable them to begin business, hospital service, medical social service, information service, recreation and entertainment.

CURRENT OFFERINGS AT THE THEATRES

Five acts are included in the vaudeville bill at the Opera House the first half of this week, presenting comedy, illusion, music, dancing and feminine beauty, and "The Whirlwind Five," said to be one of the fastest novelty acts now on the road. The film that is part of the evening's entertainment is "The Grail," a Fox production. A novelty party will be given to the children by the management on Hallowe'en night.

"The Sunshine Trail," at Keeney's today and Tuesday, is an Ince comedy drama said to be as full of surprises and romance as an O. Henry story, a picture for the whole family in which the unexpected always happens.

"Hollywood," the Paramount supercolor production which comes to the Uptown today, tomorrow and Wednesday tells a fascinating story of a screen-struck country girl who dared to Hollywood to "break" into the movies. It never occurred to the ambitious heroine that an unknown inexperienced girl might find the alluring doors of fame so strongly fortified that they could not be battered down by mere force. As a matter of fact very few of the glossy celebrities comprising the brilliant cast of this picture reached the heights of screen success with a simple leap and a bound. In most cases they were compelled to go through a maze of preliminary struggle and training before they eventually "got in." Vaudeville is also on the bill.

At the Auditorium Theater, Jack Holt in "The Tiger's Claw." Here is the kind of thrill swept romance Jack Holt revels in. Sinking to the depths, fighting his way back against odds. Also fourth episode of "The Haunted Valley."

Costume Slips Great Help to Dressmakers

Quite elaborate appearing negligees are evolved through the simple method of buying one of the lovely costume slips and draping over it a loose coat of chiffon or lace, which may be furtrimmed. These costume slips are a great help to the home dressmaker, whether she be making a negligee, a new frock or altering a last year's dress.

There are particularly lovely slips of white lace and voile, with inset motifs of white lace. These are intended to be worn under a lace or chiffon dress or negligee. Several of the lace motifs are set into the front of the slip to give the effect of a panel, while other motifs are joined to form a deep yoke. The same model worked out in material suitable to wear under a more formal dress is of chiffon and gold lace.

For wear with coat dresses there are slips made like coats which fasten down the entire length of the front. These slips fasten with satin ribbons, run through a narrow insertion placed at a low waistline. A slip made on these lines is of pink net, trimmed with real lace dyed in a matching shade. It is further ornamented with fine handtucking and embroidery done on the net. For dresses and negligees having scalloped hems there are slips cut in deep points and finished with embroidery or bound with self material.

Blue Promises to Be Popular Fall Color

Blue for wearing apparel gives every indication of unusual popularity during fall season. This popular color runs the chromatic scale from hedge-sparrow's egg blue to a shade so deep as almost to be black, and finds its fullest expression in the three-piece suits and tailleurs which fashion has decreed for fall.

Compensation for the slightly shorter skirts of these costumes is afforded by the somewhat longer coats, the three-quarter length being especially emphasized by leading designers. Coat sleeves are for the most part narrow and straight and elaborate ornamentation has given way to narrow bands of fur, such as white rabbit, marabou, leopard and reindeer.

Indoor Ivy Boxes.

Painted tin boxes having a green lattice or trellis attached to the top are delightful when filled with growing ivy and placed against the wall. They come in several colors.

More Queer English.

Probably with a certain popular song in mind, H. O. writes that he overheard the following in a restaurant recently. A customer had started for the door when he remembered that he hadn't paid his check. Going back he said to the cashier, "I don't pay you yet, ain't it?"

"Yes, not yet," answered the cashier.—Boston Transcript.

FIREMEN PLAN FOR CONVENTION

The board of directors of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association met in Hudson Saturday evening to prepare plans for the big firemanic convention to be held there next June. President J. Philip Eckert of this city was present at the meeting. Judging from the reports made at the meeting the convention next year promises to be one of the largest and best held in some time. At the close of the session the directors were the guests of the C. H. Evans Hook and Ladder Company at an indoor clambake.

TRAITOR TO ITS OWN KIND

Frigate Bird Is Well Described When It Is Called a Feathered Villain, Says Writer.

The frigate bird of the South sea is a thief and a traitor. Figuratively speaking, he flies pretty low. He robs the poor sea gulls of their fish, and, not content with doing that, he lures them and many other birds into the hands of the natives. The greatest ambition of a native of Nauru island, says a writer in the Bulletin of the Pan-American Union, is to own more frigate birds than anyone else in his village. Nauru, by the way, is a mere dot of land between the Marshall and the Solomon islands. It has a native population of some two thousand persons.

Frigate birds, uninteresting and always apparently asleep on the roost, are capable of almost human cunning when trained as decoys to capture other birds. On festival days in Naura whole villages meet to contest the supremacy of their decoy birds. The king of the island presides over the tournament.

Sometimes when the decoys are set free not a wild bird can be seen or heard. Up soar the decoys until lost to sight. Then presently the screams of wild birds rend the air, and flocks of them appear and in the company of the decoys approach the roosts that the natives have built for them. Soon, however, the wild birds become suspicious and try to soar away. Then the real labor begins. With open bills and widespread wings the frigate birds attack their victims, bar their way, head them off and circle round and above them until they have driven them, bullied and exhausted, to the roosts.

At the end of the tournament a count is made, and the village and the villager with the largest number of captive birds to their credit are publicly praised by the king. Thereupon feasting and dancing begin.

SHUN FLOATING COFFINS

French Sailors to Go to Sea on Certain Ships.

French freighters of a certain type have earned such a bad reputation among seafaring men, that today sailors are refusing to go to sea on them, while naval draughtsmen at Paris declare they should be taken out of service altogether.

Twelve such vessels were built by the government during the war. Their holds are clear, with no bulkheads, which permits the sudden shifting of cargo, and their water ballast tanks have a trick of filling unexpectedly.

Five of them already have turned over. The last was the Emile Durant, which rolled over without warning and drowned 19 members of the crew.

Nevertheless, some sailors are occasionally found, from time to time, who will take a chance, so several of the craft are still at sea.

LAYS 60,000 BRICKS DAILY

Workmen Play at Their Trade and Set Records.

The game of "brick laying" has become an interesting source of entertainment in Batavia, which is getting new pavements. W. Brown and B. Fraiser, bricklayers, are keeping a small army of men busy handing them bricks. Brown lays 60,000 bricks a day, or an average of 6,000 an hour, or 100 a minute. In fair weather, according to Brown, the two men can lay half a block a day.

Slightly Flustered.

Some time ago a parson in an industrial town arranged a special service for working men.

The service was well attended, and the preacher began his sermon with the remark: "Rarely, indeed, have I been privileged to address so many tons of soil!"

Sincere Girl.

It was the first time Richard's father had seen her and they were talking things over.

"So my son has proposed to you," he said, "and you've accepted him. I think you might have seen me first."

She blushed sweetly as she replied: "I did, but I think I prefer Richard."

Flour or Dough?

He thought it safer to write to the girl's father for her hand. He was an ardent lover, but a poor speller, and his note ran: "I want your daughter—the flour of your family."

"The flour of my family is good," replied the old man; "are you sure it isn't my dough you're after?"

VIENNA RENDEZVOUS FOR INTERNATIONAL THIEVES

Criminals and Adventurers Evade Capture Through Passport Regulations.

Much of the recent increase in a certain type of crime in Vienna is laid to the ease with which a forehanded offender can skip into another country and claim sanctuary.

This aspect of thiugs was brought out clearly at the international police congress held in Vienna recently. It would appear that fraud, forgeries, embezzlements and thefts are committed with relative immunity, granted the criminal has a vised passport in his pocket, and gets a start of a few hours on the police. The pursuing police often as not are unprepared to follow and must go through the slow channels of diplomacy to get permission to cross a nearby frontier.

Vienna is on the crossroads leading to many countries and has become the sporting ground of innumerable bands of international thieves and adventurers. The Vienna police admit the city is overrun with foreign criminals from all parts of the world, and every day discloses new methods of operation. In 1919, of 193 persons implicated in the forging of currency, only 15 were foreigners. In 1921 the ratio of foreigners was 303 out of 486. There are issuers of false checks, pickpockets, hotel and railroad thieves, burglars, safe crackers, adventurers and imposters without number. In nine cases out of ten they escape because of the inability of the authorities to follow them beyond the frontiers of their own country, and because of the time that is invariably lost before proof of identity and the circumstances of the crime can be placed in the hands of the police authorities of the new place of sojourn of the malefactor.

To end this a resolution proposing better international police organization and intercourse was accepted by the congress. It will later be submitted to a plenary session, and, if acceptable, then go to the various governments concerned for ratification.

SELECTED AS BEST LIVING TYPE OF AMERICAN INDIAN

British in name but 100 per cent American in race and type "John Bull" has been picked as the best living type of the original Indian, for the second annual observance of American Indian day, under proclamation of Governor Walton, in Oklahoma, September 28.

John Bull, a Ponca, doesn't look it; but he is nearly seventy-nine years of age and was a graduate of the first class to finish at Carlisle university, following its establishment in the early '70s. He was taken from Oklahoma to Carlisle to help erect the buildings for the school and then became one of the first matriculants. Note his smooth skin, erect bearing, and other appearances of youth.

K. H. S. ELEVEN BEAT MIDDLETOWN

Vogt and Davenport Cross Goal Line and Vogt Kicks Both Placements —Visitors Cross Goal Also In Second Half.

Saturday afternoon, at the Fair Grounds Kingston High School's football team defeated Middletown High School's football team, 14 to 6. The game was interesting and exciting from start to finish. Neither team scored until the second half, when Kingston made two touchdowns and Middletown one. In the first half Kingston was within striking distance of Middletown's goal line twice but failed to put the ball across. The Middletown backfield was heavier than the Kingston backfield, but Coach Stroup's combination worked better.

First Quarter.

Goff of Middletown kicked off to Vogt, who ran it back about 4 yards. Vogt threw a long forward pass which would probably have resulted in a touchdown but Anderson missed it. Goldberg made 6 yards. Bailey made 2 yards. Davenport went through for 3 yards and a first down. Bailey made 3 yards. Goldberg failed to gain. Vogt then kicked about 55 yards and Anderson tackled Knight in his tracks. Middletown made 2 yards and then failed to gain. McLane got through the line and threw Swendos for a loss. Swendos then punted out of bounds. On the first play Vogt made a 25 yard run with good interference. Goldberg failed to gain. A forward pass failed. Davenport took the ball to Middletown's 10 yard line. Here Middletown held and Kingston lacked the punch to put the ball across. Middletown failed to gain and punted to Bailey who ran 4 yards. Bailey ran for 8 yards around left end. Davenport went through tackle for a yard. Then Bailey rushed the ball through center for 6 yards and another first down. Goldberg fumbled but recovered the ball, losing about 4 yards. Bailey again took the ball for a gain of about 5 yards. The quarter ended with the ball in possession of Kingston on Middletown's 25 yard line. In this quarter Kingston showed a good offensive and easily outplayed Middletown.

Second Quarter.

Davenport took the ball 7 yards to Middletown's 18 yard line. It looked as if Kingston would make a touchdown. The Middletown line held and Middletown got the ball on her 18 yard line. Middletown, failing to gain on line plunges and a forward pass, punted to Bailey who ran back about 11 yards. On an end run Bailey made 5 yards. Davenport gained 1 yard through left tackle. Kingston fumbled but recovered. Vogt then punted about 30 yards, and Anderson again made a tackle. Middletown began to work its way down the field by a series of end runs and line plunges. A forward pass was tried but was not completed. Middletown kept coming down the field until they were on Kingston's 35 yard line. Here the Kingston line held and Middletown had to give up the ball. Kingston again fumbled the ball but recovered for a loss of about 3 yards. Vogt then made 6 yards on an end run. The half ended with the ball in Kingston's possession on their own 28 yard line. The Kingston fans got a little scare when Middletown began marching down the field but the Kingston line held and stopped the danger.

Second Half.

Vogt kicked off to Swendos of Middletown, who ran it back about 10 yards. Middletown failed to gain the necessary 10 yards and Swendos punted to Bailey. Bailey then opened up and Vogt threw a forward pass to Carroll for a 20 yard gain. Bailey failed to gain. Vogt made about 10 yards and again went through for 8 yards. Middletown was fighting desperately, trying to hold Kingston. Kingston failed to gain. Davenport made 5 yards and put the ball on Middletown's 1 yard line. Bailey and Vogt failed to gain. Kingston was now fighting hard for a touch down. The next play was a trick formation and a shift play and Davenport went around left end for a touch down. The interference by the team, especially Anderson, was remarkable. Vogt kicked the point after touch down.

Kingston kicked off from Middletown's 30 yard line. Middletown tried a forward pass but it was intercepted by Goldberg. Bailey made 10 yards on an end run. Goldberg then made 1 yards. Vogt made no gain. He tried again and ran about 40 yards for Kingston's second touch down. It was a pretty exhibition of open field running. He again kicked the point after touch down.

Vogt kicked off to Pereno, who was tackled by Anderson after running the ball back 10 yards. The quarter ended with the ball in possession of Middletown on the locals' 30 yard line. The score: Kingston, 14; Middletown, 0.

Fourth Quarter.

Swendos made eight yards around end. Vogt intercepted a forward pass. Bailey then made five yards. Vogt was tackled by Pereno for a loss. Vogt tried a forward pass but it was not completed. Vogt kicked and Anderson once more made a tackle. Casler of Middletown made five yards. A trick play failed to gain. Swendos then punted to Davenport. Totley, who went in for Vogt, threw a forward pass to Anderson who completed it for about ten yards. Bailey failed to gain. A forward pass failed. Totley kicked but the ball was blocked by one of his own men. Middletown got the ball and completed a twenty yard forward pass. Another forward pass was tried but failed. Then still another forward pass was tried and was caught by Pereno, who made a touchdown. The kick for point after touchdown failed. Middletown kicked and Cassidy got the ball in the center of the field. The ball stayed in the center of the field for the remaining few minutes of play. The game ended with Kingston the winner. Score, 14 to 6. Lineup:

MORGENWECK PLANS FOR BIG SEASON

Will Play Original Celtics a Five Game Series—Releases Thomas and is Planning to Get a Real Star —Better Service at Armory.

Frank Morgenweck will put this Kingston quintet on the court again this season to oppose the Original Celties. Morgenweck's men came out the winner in a five game series last season, which placed Kingston firmly on the map. Sunday, November 4, the first game this season will be played at the 71st Regiment Armory, New York city. The Celtics have tentatively agreed to come to Kingston for the second contest on December 5, which is an open Wednesday night for the Kingston team. The Celtics have their team complete, Beckman-Barry, Dehnert, Leonard, Holman, Lopcheck, Burk, Whitte. The Shamrock aggregation looks stronger than last year. Campbell, the fast forward of the Trenton team will in all probability be playing with the Kingston team against the Celtics in the first game.

Barney Sedran is now with Yonkers, Manager Morgenweck having waived his claim. Hank Thomas has also been given his unconditional release. Manager Morgenweck's reasons for the release of Thomas are that he has the makings of a good player, but has never played with a team, where team work was used. The result is he is very green in team work and to break him in properly would be harder than a real rookie. At present the Kingston team will only be carrying one extra player, M. Husta. In the meantime, Morgenweck will try and land a real star. This player is at present under contract with an agreement which promises his release after a certain time. If this goes through he will be in Kingston.

Both Artus and Dolin of the local team need much work to get in proper shape and they have agreed to come to Kingston. This will bring the team back to last season's arrangements, having four players here. This will give these players opportunity to practice together.

In the Spalding rule book for this season there is a great write up of the Kingston team for the 1922-1923 season. Morgenweck is planning on getting a thousand of these books at a special price and distribute them to the fans for a very small sum, giving every purchaser a book for about one-third the price that is usually asked.

Arrangements are also being made at the armory to sell tickets on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays at the regular box office at certain hours during the day. A phone extension will be placed there and the front door will be open so that the fans can come in the same as they do on game nights and purchase tickets in advance. This arrangement should improve conditions for the purchasing of tickets, especially for the ladies, who were necessarily embarrassed, when they were required to buy tickets at the office of the armory headquarters.
